Thousands Expected For Scout Circus

News-Prints

The whole force here at the News breathed a sigh of happiness this week as we completed delivery on the biggest single order of printing we have yet undertaken: the production of three thousand 44-page books plus cover, for the coming Scout Circus next week.

Just to give you some idea of the job: if all of the 1,551,000 printed pages were laid in a line 8 1/2 inches wide (the width of one page) the line would extend 293 miles.

After printing was completed, a crew of five fellows was recruited to do the gathering and the trimming, and the three totaled 13 1/2 miles of walking around an eight-yard circle in the process.

Speaking of color printing, the NEWS discovered a new simultaneous multi-color process a couple of weeks ago while printing a placard job for the Browder Milling Company. (We endeavor to set the pace in this sort of thing!) Five colors at one time... it's really simple. Take a job that has already been printed in green, overprint it with yellow on white stock and have it red by a blue-eyed pressman.

Who's next?

Whatever parties are responsible for the tearing up of the decorations of the Chamber of Commerce float, stored in a garage behind the Earle Hotel, have the genuine indignation of members of that group. The float, carefully tucked into the garage, is to be used in the Scout parade next Thursday and while the frame is intact, the covering will have to be completely redone. The float has been inspected regularly and until last week was weathering its stay in good shape. Wednesday's visit disclosed that it had been ragged from the garage and entirely denuded.

PARIS PICKETS PARADE

Three teen-age pickets, who stated that they were "getting paid" for it appeared on the streets of Paris, Tenn., last week and paraded their sandwich boards before some half-dozen downtown merchants who had refused to observe the Wednesday closing of the rest of the merchants.

5 Planes Fight Army Worms In This Area

TWENTY-TWO STATES REPORT INVASION KENTUCKY-TENNESSEE COUNTIES HARD HIT

A 22-state invasion of army worms this spring has caught Fulton and surrounding counties in its path, and for the past ten days to two weeks, all available farm help has organized to kill the pests and to prevent their spread.

In Fulton, Hickman, Graves, Obion, Weakley, Gibson and Dyer counties the worms have taken a heavy toll of grass and clover, and invasion of cotton, corn and bean fields is reported in some areas.

For the past ten days the situation has become so serious that planes were called into service to dust and spray large areas quickly; in Fulton county alone some 1800 acres of pasture and crops have been sprayed up to last Tuesday.

The Fulton County Farm Bureau obtained the service of a plane from the 'Planters' Flying service at Blytheville, Ark., on May 17, and, with conditions favorable, it has been operating constantly since then. It, along with the Obion county planes, is using liquid Toxaphene.

The destructive part of his life, of course, is as a worm.

The past winter, being mild, did not kill either the moths or their eggs as a more severe winter would have.

Should the moths remain around the same area this year, they will, with weather again in their favor, lay more eggs to be hatched out next year, although this is the exception rather than the rule, the NEWS learned. However, middle Tennessee, which was infested with army worms last year, again has them now.

Since all eggs do not hatch out at the same time, many of the worms go into their "underground" stage before others have even hatched, thus prolonging the presence of the pest as much as three weeks or more.

UNION CITY GROUP WANTS TVA POWER

A group of some 30 men and women, representing civic organizations of Union City, Tuesday night unanimously passed a motion recommending to the city commission that it immediately ask the Tennessee Valley Authority to make a survey of Union City and to furnish a proposal as to the terms on which TVA power can be furnished the city.

Mayor Morgan Sedberry, Finance Commissioner Fred Nailling and Street Commissioner E. W. Talley attended the meeting which was called by the directors of the Senior Chamber of Commerce.

Previous to last night, the Senior Chamber, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Business & Professional Women's club, the Rotary club, the Kiwanis club and the Jaycees had gone on record as favoring the survey.

It is expected that now the city commission will contact the TVA to the end that the survey may be made as soon as possible so that the matter, with full information, may be placed before the citizens of Union City to vote yes, or no, on whether they desire the city to obtain its electricity from the TVA with the power to be distributed over the city-owned and operated electric transmission system.

It has been estimated that the survey will cost from $5,000 to $8,000, but this expense will be borne in its entirety by the TVA. However, the Senior Chamber of Commerce, which is leading the effort, has offered to contribute the balance of the cost.

Pilots working in this area have recently come from Greenville and Greenwood Miss., in the Delta area, where an army worm invasion about six weeks ago is reported to have been "the worst they had ever seen"

ICRR TO REBUILD CAIRO BRIDGE

A $6,300,000 program for the renewal of the spans of the Ohio River bridge at Cairo, Ill., was announced today by the Illinois Central Railroad. The work scheduled to begin in June, will require about three years for completion.

The new spans will be erected on the existing piers, three of which will be repaired. Three new piers will be constructed midway between the existing piers on the Kentucky shore to permit replacing three 400-foot through spans, at present in use with six 200-foot deck spans.

The bridge was one of the first all-steel railroad bridges erected. It was opened for service in October, 1889. It has long been heralded as an engineering marvel and regarded as an outstanding example of bridge construction.

To meet the requirements of heavier power being operated over the bridge, it was straightened in 1914. The approaches were rebuilt in 1934.

Twelve Local Students Take First Train Ride

A trip on a train was not the title of a song on Tuesday when 12 fourth and fifth grade students of the Terry-Norman school took their first ride on the rails. It was a dream come true. Here in Fulton where 33 passenger trains and 80 freight trains come through every day these youngsters had never had the thrill of boarding a coach that would take them on a train ride.

Mrs. Jessie Lee Fleming, principal of Terry-Norman school and teacher of the fourth and fifth grades, enjoys teaching practical experience as well as the three "R's." Upon learning that some of the children in her school room, due to automobile and other means of transportation, had never ridden on a train she decided to do something about it. The proposed plan reached the ears of others and through the courtesy of the I. Seigel Company and the Illinois Central Service Club passage was arranged for a trip on the City of New Orleans to Dyersburg, Tenn., and return.

As we stood on the station platform with Mrs. Fleming we were very aware of the anxiety and unrest among the group.

Little Margaret Cashon said that she was so happy her stomach hurt. Some of the little girls came equipped with umbrellas prepared for the inclement weather. Joyce Coleman looked lovely in a dainty leghorn hat. Truman Satterfield was in true cowboy style in a ten gallon hat. And, of course, bubble gum was there... everywhere.

As we boarded the train, quite a few passengers (enjoying a nap) were disturbed by the "Oh's and Ah's" from the young travelers as they admired the beauty of the streamliner. One man said, "Are they all yours?"

When the train pulled around the curve to Lake street Don Bowen and Jimmy Rose were quite happy when they saw two of their favorite baseball players, Curt Englebright and Jr. Cunningham standing in front of Smith's Cafe. When the attractive stewardess came through the coach the boys gave a whistle and made remarks something like this, "She ain't so bad looking."

Bobby Joe Stoker was really enjoying his train ride and Joe Dallis the real Cub Scout that he is, kept looking out the window to see how many birds he could see. Ray Campbell, enjoying the 80 miles an hour speed and forgetting his geography said, "I believe we're goin' through Death Valley, now."

Bobby Logan was completely dressed in his Cub Scout uniform... plus a broken arm. Dale Breeden was in his Sunday clothes and talked constantly. Tommy Tanner (with a far away look in his eyes) said, "I wish she was takin' us to New York."

We were met at Dyersburg by the friendly station agent who did everything possible to make our 15 minute visit there pleasant. When we boarded the train for our homeward journey we were allowed to walk through all the coaches and diner so we might spend the rest of our trip on the observation coach.

Menus and coasters were given as souvenirs. When one boy saw the price of a sandwich he was completely overcome and said, "Wow! One dollar for a sandwich! Don't guess I'm hungry after all." They all wanted a coke but the 15 cents threw them, too.

As the crowd dispersed at the Fulton station the children expressed their thanks to their chaperones and to their sponsors.

The News, the Siegel Factory and the "L. C. Service Club" for such a thrilling experience and several say, "Boy, that streamliner sure is something. Come on, let's get a hamburger. That diner sure made me hungry."

Clinton Youth Held In Paducah Fatality

A 19-year-old Clinton youth has been charged with manslaughter in connection with the Saturday night traffic deaths of Harry Hinkle, 78, and Mrs. Mary Egan at Paducah.

Police Chief Barkley Graham says James Rose has admitted driving the car which struck the two. Charges of failing to stop and render aid also were placed against him.

Rose is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rose of Clinton.

When Rose failed to stop his automobile, after hitting the aged couple witnesses took down the license number and reported it.

Hickman County Sheriff James Lee was waiting at the Rose home, when the youth returned Sunday morning at 1 o'clock.

"So Grows The Tree"

"To keep myself physically strong . . . mentally awake and morally straight."To begin with, that is a good slogan and it is a part of the Scout Oath that every Boy Scout repeats at every meeting. However, it is not only a slogan . . . it is a code that the boys live by . . . it is something that is ingrained into every growing youngster at the very time he needs to have just such principles to guide him through boyhood and into manhood.We well remember, and fondly recall our boyhood and its association with scouting; and today we know we are the better for it. Yes, the better for having learned to love long hikes through the woods, nights out camping under the stars, birdlore, indianlore, something of wild animals, snakes, fish, and how to get along with other boys whom we first disliked on the street but learned to enjoy face-to-face in a knot-tying contest or a boxing match in the weekly Scout meeting.It's a shame that every young boy isn't a scout, and rubs elbows with the sound training scouting teaches. It's a shame that some parents refuse their children this opportunity . . . this privilege . . . this heritage that the others carry with them the rest of their lives. In joining the Scouts a boy makes his first break away from his close neighborhood circle, or his family circle, and begins to learn how the rest of the town lives, and what he can do to improve himself, and how to take care of himself, and how to get along with others.Scouting is an excellent experience, and we salute its leaders here in the land of Daniel Boone for the energy, the leadership and the time they are giving for this purpose.Next Thursday, as you stand along the parade route of march of the Boy Scouts of the Four Rivers Council, you may well be proud that there are thousands of these young men right around your home area who are growing up in the guiding principles of Scouting, and who will make our State the better for it, in their years ahead.How does the old saying go . . . ? "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree."

National Health Insurance

The record proves conclusively that the adoption of National Compulsory Health Insurance constitutes the most dangerous step toward ultimate regimentation of the people and the creation of a despotic, Socialist State. Before considering the evils and dangers inherent in a system of Compulsory Health Insurance, let's take a sharp look at the origin of this issue:For ten years or more, bureaucratic planners in various agencies of the Federal Government have been agitating for the enactment of Compulsory Health Insurance legislation in the United States.It is a plan for Government control and direction of all doctors, hospitals, drug stores and clinics and medical schools, a plan originated in Germany in 1883 and later embraced by Soviet Russia, Socialist Britain, and many other foreign countries.Advocates of socialization have been carrying on their propaganda activities with untold millions in tax dollars—paid into the Federal Treasury by American taxpayers.
To further their program, the Wagner-Murray-Dingell Bills have been introduced at several past sessions of Congress.
They have been publicized adroitly by their sponsors as the means to save lives, vastly improve everybody's health, solve all the Nation's health problems, attain all the health goals, to which the medical profession itself is constantly devoted, and provide medical care at a pittance for everybody.Sponsors of government-controlled medicine, in urging adoption of the Wagner-Murray Dingell Bills, have painted the American medical scene and American doctors blackly, grossly, (here in America, where health care and health standards are the highest in the world) in a country whose standards of care and whose medical research are recognized and respected by the rest of the world as foremost among nations.—N. A. Copelen

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

ANCESTRY AND COMMON SENSEIt has been a source of pleasure to me as a student of the branch of human history called folklore that people in my lifetime have come to have much more sense about their ancestry than former people had. As history has been studied, even the die-harsh among the ancestor-w-shippers have had to come to a more rational view of the peo-ple who settled in America.
Formerly a person could claim just about anything for his ancestors and get by with it, no matter how much the stolid-faced people around him really questioned his greatness. Fortunately it is hardly so easy now to prevaricate too much about any former settler without being ridiculous. And, strangely, the actual value of ancestors has grown thereby. When idealiza-

FOOTNOTES

By Alice and Me

As sure as the sun shines and ripens the strawberries, there comes the urge within a few Fulton gals to go on a strawberry pickin' binge. That is just what five of us (Montez Baird, Irene Boyd, Elsie Weeks, Pearllee Mc-Clellan and I) did one morning not many suns ago and before we knew it found ourselves on the McClellan farm out from Cayce.The night before we had been awakened by the phone ringing out in the wee small hours of the morning. I thought, (it was really just after the Fulton-Madisonville ball game) and was surprised to hear Pearllee Mc-Clellan say, "Do you want to pick strawberries?""Not right now," I said, "Don't you think it's a little early." "Oh, I don't mean right now," sez she,
"I mean in the morning."And so we did. While visions of shortcake danced in our heads.
Two hours later, with a crate and a half of strawberries in the harvest and a back that only a plaster could heal, a shortcake seemed an empty reward.This reporter regrets the fact that she did not have a movie camera to capture the speed demon antics and determination of Elsie Weeks as she sped downrow after row . . . or the rummaging among the straw by Irene Boyd . . . she got the straw . . . Montez Baird got more sun-tan . . . Pearllee will have to hire a man to re-set all plants she sat on . . . but all in all, it was fun and come sun and berries next year we'll be ready for another pickin'!There's nothing like a "get-together" to welcome an old friend back into the fold and that is what a group did last week for Ruth Hill Bondurant of Houston, Texas.There couldn't have been a better welcome for Ruth than to have been entertained by the 1936 so-da-me-so-la-te-do singers namely, Mary Swan Bushart or (Clara to Ruth), Mary Hill Latta and Grace Hill. We regret that Maree Bushart was unable to be there to furnish the alto part of me-me-me-do. We would like to suggest that these singers will be available for any of your social functions where high class entertainment is needed and we assure you that as the melody of "When the Roll is Called up Yonder" is sung out in so-da-me-fa fashion, you'll be there.tions of the pioneers, for example, were the only pictures we had, it seemed crude to tell some worshiper that his ancestors could read and write. They probably could not, but it is also necessary to know the general level of education at that time before we can condemn any given person for not having these evidences of culture. I have lived among plenty of people who were illiterate, as judged by reading and writing tests, but some of these same illiterates were able people and made a good living and attained to considerable neighborhood prominence. One such man has had three daughters to graduate at my own college, certainly not a bad achievement for a fellow who was handicapped as he was by not knowing his own name in print. A too-favorable opinion of the pioneers is certainly as bad as a too-severe opinion. History has justified itself, here and elsewhere, by helping us to recreate early life in America almost as it was.When I was a child, I often wondered at the degeneracy of mankind, for I heard only of the great things that people used to do and saw only the very ordinary actions of plain people around me. Our religion also taught us that we were going down hill with the brakes off.
Nearly every oldish man was a Confederate veteran, who talked about his head comrades as if they were supermen. I, quite naturally, grew up with a belief that we were pigmies and that the later generations would become still sorer than we, if that were possible, it hardly seemed sensible to try to do anything with a philosophy like this all around us.Viewed as men of their time and not as demigods, the pioneers were nothing to be ashamed of. Many of them were crude beyond words, but in every generation of pioneers there were stalwart souls that were far ahead of their time in many of their ideas. No place was too remote, no group was too lacking in sanity to keep down forward-looking plans for decency, order, and, usually, religion and education, however elementary they may have been. The pioneers did not build cathedrals, but they built log churches in the wilderness or erected for temporary meetings brush arbors in the woods. They did not have modern graded and high schools;far from it, but in most places they encouraged someone to teach people how to read, write, and cypher to the Rule of Three.
The early pioneers did not erect noble castles; it was a much later generation that did this. But everywhere there were a few signs that some hands were more skilled than others, that some people dreamed of better things than they had ever known. As a lifelong student of Abraham Lincoln I have marveled at the handiwork of the rude country lad and his ignorant father, for these two could make furniture that none of us would be ashamed of today. He built the railpile as he built the state," as Edwin Markham says of him. I have felt a thrill of appreciation for this, much as I have thrilled at the few great masterpieces of art that I have seen. It was no demigod that dressed these boards; it was a man, a pioneer man, who wished for better things than pioneer life could bring. How much better that sort of pioneer is than all the idealized ones that people who are shaky on their history have dreamed of.If nursing sows are allowed to wallow in mud, their pigs may swallow enough of it to develop fatal impaction.

PARIS LOSES L&N SHOP

A monthly payroll estimated at $45,000 is lost to Paris, Tenn., after this week with the moving of an L&N railroad repair shop to Alabama, according to the Parisian.

A total of 106 men will be affected by the move, although all of them have been offered work in the new location, the general foreman reported. The transfer is being made "to centralize repair operations at a point where materials are more easily available, as in the Birmingham area, plus declining business," state the foreman.

the camel that broke the man's back

Remember the old story about the merchant and the camel? It was a cold night, and the camel begged to warm his nose—only his nose—in the tent. Then what happened? Little by little, the camel inched in his shoulders, his front legs—until he took over the whole tent. And the merchant was out in the cold.

That's how government agencies are inching their way into the electric business. First, public funds were set aside to build dams—for flood control and navigation. Then it was argued that the water behind the dams could be used to make electricity.

That led to the building of power lines, and then to more dams, more lines, and so on. Now these same agencies want more millions of dollars to build fuel-burning power plants—which have nothing to do with floods or navigation at all.

Yes, the camel of State Socialism is creeping farther and farther into the tent of the electric business. What it is doing here it can do in other industries. For when a government can enter one business in unfair competition with its own citizens, it is but a short step to entering all businesses—and eventually taking over all business.

Like the camel and the tent. What business are you in? This can affect you, too. Write your Congressman about it.

SOONER OR LATER—unless it's stopped—you will be next. Senator Joseph D. O'Mahoney (D.Wyo.), conducting a one-man investigation, has found that members of the 81st Congress have introduced exactly 132 bills which would involve the government in business activities now carried by private enterprise.

Roundhouse Round-Up

By Alice Coleman

Hello everyone, hope you're all nice and cool and enjoying reading the News and all about the people we know. Had you ever thought about it, a newspaper is like a woman's sewing circle, bridge party, bunco party etc. In place of someone telling you about what's happened in your block you read it, and believe me if the News gets it they print it regardless of who it is or what it's about. For instance I know a young man, oh, I say he's young, he is around 36 or 37 years old, never been married and wants a wife but of course he wants a wife with plenty of money and she can't be over 50 years of age. And of course, she must at once put the money in a checking account with his and her name on the bank book. So of course I laughed and told Jo about this and she said she will print it but I will have to tell her his name and of course I couldn't do that. She said she would print it anyway but I told her no, I would talk to this nice young innocent boy again and see if he was still wanting to put it in the paper and if he was I would let her know, but if any of you want to answer by all means do so.

campaign for cheap TVA power in Union City, thought that the city should have an open mind on the problem before asking the TVA to make the survey.

Hardy Graham, president of the Senior Chamber of Commerce, gave a detailed review before the group Tuesday night of the findings of his committee relative to the advisability of seeking TVA power.

A chief point made by Mr. Graham was that it cost the city last year $98,784.43 to produce the current used in the city, or a little over 1 percent a kilowatt hour for 9,517,000 kilowatt hours produced, and that a like amount of current could have been purchased by the city from the TVA at one-half cent per kilowatt hour, or for $50,000 less than it cost the city to produce this power.—Union City Messenger.

When you gotta stop

"It can stop on a dime," the salesman promised you, "—and leave nine cents change!"

And your Buick did—when it was new and brake linings unworn and everything factory-tight and fresh.

But brake linings wear—lights grow dim with time—tires can lose their bite and traction.

And with a whole summer's driving ahead, what better time than this to bring your Buick back to new-car peak in all those details that mean so much to safety?

Check your car—
Check accidents!

Three great service and safety organizations across the country are alerting car-owners everywhere this month on safety-checking their cars.

They list ten vital question marks for you to think about—How are your Brakes? Lights? Tires? Steering? Wheel alignment? Defective glass? Rear-view mirror? Muffler? Windshield wipers?
Horn?

Be sure your family rides in safety—ask your Buick service man to look over these check-points this month—and

News About Our Colored Friends by MATILDA ALLEN

Mrs. Alice Mayo visited Mrs. Artist Goodman at Water Valley last week. Mrs. Goodman is very ill.

Mrs. Allie V. Daniel spent a few days in Memphis last week. We are very glad to know that an effort is being forwarded to build a colored church at Troy, Tenn., since the Christian folks do not have a place to worship. I have not learned yet who made the wonderful suggestion, anyway I commend Troy, Tenn., and all the fine people there. Any person or organization or church who wishes to make a donation may send it to Colored Church Fund, Troy, Tenn.

Comendations seem to be in order this week. Here's to the fine little Boy Scouts of South Fulton and their splendid den mother, Mrs. Hall Chambers. Keep up the good work.

Miss Rosee Young, Mrs. J. E. Allen visited in Union City Monday night.

Mrs. Louise Rucker attended commencement at Miles High School Monday night.

We are glad to know Mrs. Dorothy Churchwell has been dismissed from the Fulton Hospital.

I dropped in to visit Mrs. Churchwell last Sunday afternoon and she had so many flowers in her room I thought she was in the flower business. The beautiful gardenias captured Louise and my eye. It is very nice to know everybody remembered you and sends flowers when you are ill. It shows what a charming person Mrs. Churchwell is.

Miss Willetta Cumming is a patient at the Fulton Hospital.

Did you know a quitter never wins and a winner never quites? Guess maybe the reason I never win anything as I'm always quitting.

A large crowd attended the Annual Woman's Day at Bell's Chapel C.M.E. church Sunday afternoon.

Several people attended the singing at the Baptist church in Union City Sunday.

Mrs. Harold Capps and daughter, Donna Jean attended church in Paducah Wednesday night.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 29.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord God will help me; therefore shall I not be confounded; therefore have I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed." (Isa. 50:7).

A cow with a bad tooth is likely to lap water as a dog does, in order to protect the sensitive tooth from chilling.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank Miss Minnie Fuller and Mrs. Mable Fuller and our many friends for the lovely household shower which they gave for us May 13. Our home was destroyed by fire recently and the many gifts we received have helped to get us started again in our new home. MR. AND MRS. PAUL MUNSEL

Farm animals and pets of all ages may suffer from vitamin A deficiency, but young animals are particularly susceptible.

Civic-minded Kentuckians will like this story, even though it comes from North Carolina. Macesfield, population 367, was just an ugly spot in the road when, two years ago Mrs. J. E. Wright, a physician's wife, read about a prize offered by Better Homes and Gardens magazine for the best job of community beautification. Recently Macesfield won first prize, $1,000 for cities under 10,000 and the $1,000 sweepstakes.

The village was dingy, dilapidated and dirty, and without a church when Mrs. Wright started a clean-up campaign by telephoning women of the community, twelve of whom joined her as charter members of a new civic club. Says an Associated Press correspondent:

"The first public meeting brought out thirty-five women. They set up a 6-point program—a debris-removal campaign, a home improvement contest, remodeling of an old townowned building into a community house, adoption of a town shrub and tree and get them planted, improvement of the business section and backing the town board in any improvement projects."

"Then the women ran into trouble. None of the dozen or so merchants along the main street, a block off the highway, wanted to tear down his rusty wood and tin marquee. They had been there for forty years. Finally, the husband of a club member took his down. Another followed. Then progress lagged. It took a snowstorm to bring down the third. But that started a rush and all disappeared."

"Meanwhile, the finance committee was busy. W. W. Eagles, banker, started off a dinner with a $25 contribution. A few others followed suit. That money let the group offer prizes in home improvement contests. But, the money didn't last long when they started on the community house. A town square dance cleared $100. A Brunswick stew sale raised another $100. A dozen other stunts brought in a little here and a little there. Altogether, the community house project cost about $1,000."

"The end of the home improvement contest found five homes remodeled, eleven repainted, ten yards graded, five houses underpinned, hundreds of shrubs planted. Potting shacks were torn down. Junk piles were cleaned up."

"Spurred by the women's work, the men built a basketball park with stands to seat most of Macesfield's population. The city fathers started regular garbage collection for the first time. The postoffice came out of the back corner of a general store and into its own new building. A new Presbyterian church was built. Plans are ready for a Christian church."

sportsmen. For instance, Rudolf Hagen, a veteran gunsmith living at 5211 South Monitor Street in Chicago, has developed a process whereby an amateur can "engrave" his guns with fancy scrolls or the figures of upland or big game animals and birds that compare favorably with the work of skilled craftsmen.

Mr. Hagen calls his process "Gun Tatoo" and the kit includes all the ingredients essential in turning any gun into a beautiful engraved model. We know that the process is foolproof and adapted for amateurs for we have successfully "engraved" two shotguns.

There's a new-type duffle bag on the market that eliminates the old bugaboo of most similar bags where the item you want almost always is in the bottom and everything else must be removed to get to it. This duffle bag, a product of the E-Z-Pax Company, 509 North Fairfax Avenue, Los Angeles, consists of four pieces—a lid and three zippered sections with each having its own bottom. The zippers run horizontally around each section, and through these openings you can get into any part of the bag without having the old trouble. You can use one or two or three sections depending on the amount of space needed.

And if this isn't enough, the company has designed the bag with straps so that it can be carried on your back as a pack-sack.

Frank Steel, 176 West Adams Street, Chicago, the nation's No. 1 campaigner for the use of a thermometer in locating where game fish most likely will be hiding, has combined a thermometer and facts on water temperatures fish prefer into a little plastic book. You just dunk the book over the side of your boat, leave it a couple of minutes and pull it back for a temperature reading. Then you flip through the pages to the chart devoted to the species of fish you're after and find how deep you should fish.

Mr. Steel has proved that certain species of fish prefer certain water temperatures and he's written several books on his theories. Much of the information in these books is condensed into "Steel's Fish Finder," the plastic book-thermometer combination.

Seeing these gadgets has our mind working overtime trying to come up with something new. We'd like to get on the sportsman's bandwagon of inventors. And trying to think of a new idea is almost as much fun as fishing.

Outdoorsmen generally are an ingenious lot. We can't recall at the moment any world-shattering inventions by fishermen or hunters, but you always can count on sportsmen to come up with devices that add flavor to outdoor sports.

During the recent sport shows, always a good place to uncover new gadgets, we ran across several items that, we predict, will meet with the approval of many

Their act will show how the proud Indian gave expression to his feelings as he prepared himself for war, religion, and ceremony. State Warns Against

Fraudulent Claims

Conviction in magisterial court last week of a Louisville resident on a charge of fraudulent claiming of unemployment benefits was termed today by Commissioner V. E. Barnes of the Department of Economic Security as "just the beginning" in a drive to ferret out and prosecute similar offenders.

The Department's investigative staff, Barnes said, has already uncovered several other instances of fraudulent claiming and these cases are being prepared for submission to county attorneys for prosecution.

TIPTONVILLE MILL BURNS

The Haynes sawmill in Tiptonville was destroyed by fire last Friday night, with a loss estimated at better than $20,000. Caused from a nactylene hose, the fire quickly spread to the rest of the main mill, boiler room and engine room.

This is the third time in the past 30 months that Haynes has seen his mill go up in smoke, and although he stated that he has lumber contracts that will last him for years, he has not made definite plans to rebuild.

Countian Wins $100 Murray Scholarship

Marilyn Chester of Brewers high school and Lewis Sutton of Western high school have been awarded the Murray State College Alumni Association scholarships which are given annually to two outstanding high school seniors of this area. They were selected from more than a score of applicants who were nominated by teachers and educators who are alumni of Murray State.

Mr. Sutton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Lewis Sutton of Route 3, Hickman. He is a lifelong resident of the Western community near Hickman and has led his classes in school there for the past five years. He is 18 years old.

The scholarships, each for $100 will be paid to the students to help defray their expenses while attending Murray State.

MURRAY GRADUATES 291

Dr. Herbert Drennon, dean of Mississippi State college, Starkville, Miss., will be speaker at the twenty-sixth annual commencement exercises to be held May 30 at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium at Murray State college. There are 291 students who expect to receive their degrees this year.

For the second consecutive year the record for degrees granted by Murray State will be broken. The previous record was in 1948 when 222 degrees were granted.

All growth depends upon activity. There is no development physically or intellectually without effort, and effort means work.
